Get students to think like an Economist using the latest policy and data while incorporating Global Issues.

From our global food shortage to global warming, economic issues permeate our everyday lives. Parkin brings critical issues to the forefront. Each chapter begins with one of today's key issues, and additional issues appear throughout the chapter to show the real-world applications of the theory being discussed. When the chapter concludes, students "read between the lines" to think critically about a news article relating to the issue, demonstrating how thinking like an economist helps make informed decisions.

Parkin is so committed to currency that he uploads news articles almost daily to MyEconLab®, the online assessment and tutorial system that accompanies the text. Assessment questions based on the "Economics in the News" articles will be uploaded periodically so that instructors can assign recent articles within MyEconLab.

IF YOU WANT A TEXTBOOK THAT WILL TELL YOU WHO TO VOTE FOR

By greg jones

In my 25 years of teaching I have never seen a text that is as relentlessly biased as this one. Near the final chapters we are told, on the sacrosanct authority of the Washington Times, that Obama's programs have been an unalloyed failure unlike the supply side magic of Reagan. On page after page he cleverly, many times not so cleverly, conceals any point that would stand in the way of his Friedmanesque campaign. When his argument stumbles on the 2008 crisis he largely ignores it. It is this sort of analytic Econ 101 neo-classical orthodoxy that motivates the bigotry of so many who get just a little bit of college and believe that science shows us that anyone who dissents is either irrational or dishonest.

Cheap Prices for Great Books!

By Ashley Hultz

The book was in great condition for how much I paid for it. It has some highlighting in it from someone before but it didn't bother me.

Like new!

By Rosalia

I don't lie, this book looked like new, and cost me a lot less than a new one. I am super happy with my purchase.
