The only book you'll need

By J. Manor

George's book is the only one you'll need to do your statistics. It got me through graduate school. Field's book is good too, but contains much more math than some of us need to see. If you want something that will clearly and simply tell you what buttons to push to do what you need to write your thesis or dissertation, George's book is one you want.

Buy Field's book Discovering Statistics with SPSS. It is much easier to follow and gives more indepth, discussions.
